JUDGE DENIES MOTION FOR A CHANGE OF VENUE

Defense's Attorneys Claim Judge's Action Will be Sure Cause for Reversal of Judgment---Big Trials to Cost Nearly $2,000,000---Detective Burns Claims State Witnesses are Being Tampered With.

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 11. - | brothers were brought before Judge James J. McNamara will be tried Walter N. Bordwell's division of the first for murder in connection with the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times building. This was decided today when Judge Bordwell sustained a motion of the defense to conduct the trials of the brothers separately. District Attorney Frederick then announced that he would call James first.

SIXTY NEWARK KNIGHTS TEMPLAR AT THE CONCLAVE

West Main street, in the vicinity of the Masonic temple, presented an unusually animated scene shortly after five o'clock Wednesday morning and was occasioned by the gath- tarrh germs out of business in short ering of the members of St. Luke's order commandery No. 34, Knights Tem-plar, preparatory to their pilgrimage to Dayton to attend the Grand Commandery and also to take part in the big parade, which occurred Wednesday afternoon. The members of St. Luke's commandery have been drilling for this event for some time and all were enthusiastic over the trip. The Granville band, which is one of the best in the county, had been engaged to accompany the Commandery, and the members of that organization came down from the college town on a special train, arriving here about 5:30 o'clock. After rendering a number of selections the Knights to the number of sixty or more, formed in line and marched to the Pan Handle depot, where they boarded the 5:45 o'clock train and left for Dayton, the great majority of them being accompanied by their wives | About twenty of the Sir Knights left for Dayton Tuesday night

After passing in review the column continued on its route until it reached a point on Main street near the railroad where the column was massed and after moving north on Main street to First street was disbanded. While the en masse column was moving north on Main street, all the bands joined in play-ing "Onward Christian Soldiers," and it is estimated that over a thousand horns were blowing at the same

Derivation of Gibraltar. In 711 A. D. the Arabs crossed the narrow strait of Gibraitar and established themselves around the famous rock whose name is derived from their leader. Field Marshal Tarik was one of the leaders of the Arab invasion of Spain. Gebel is an Arabic word meaning mountain. The great rock, which is by far the most conspicuous object along the shores of the strait, was accordingly named after Tarik, Gebel el Tarik, or the mountain of Tarik. It is easy to see how this name became changed into its present

Men Who Never Unveil.

There is a wandering tribe of the Sahara called the Tuaregs, a strange people, supposed by some to have descended from the crusaders and distinguished by the wearing of veils, a custom that has occasioned much discussion. The Tuaregs guard their eyes against the glare of the desert by two veils, one rolled round the temples and falling down in front of the eyes, the other reaching from the nostrils to the edge of the clothing, covering the lower part of the face. All manner of learned arguments have been adduced to explain this custom, but hygiene is obviously the only motive. This is shown by the statements of the Tuaregs themselves and by the sobriquet "mouths for flies." which they apply to all who do not wear the veils. It is said that the Tuaregs never remove their veils, even at mealtimes. Indeed, they are so much a part of their wearers that any one de-

THE SALESMAN.

One day I called on Mr. Avers, to sell some axle grease. He kicked me down three flights of stairs and sent for the police. And as I sat there, in sad plight, with broken legs and spine, "He served you just exactly right," remarked a friend of mine, "The man who tries to peddle junk that no one ever needs, should always come down stairs kerplunk, until his bosom bleeds. Few, few indeed want axle grease on life's sad, gloomy shore, and when they do they'll go in peace to buy it at the store. It maddens men to have some freak come, on some busy day, and stand around and talk a week, and fail to go away. I'm glad, so glad that Mr. Ayres has balked at this abuse, and pushed you down three flights of stairs, and kicked your backbone loose. He well deserves a laurel wreath! I'm glad he broke your neck! I'm glad you've swallowed all your teeth! I'm glad you've bled a peck!" His words seemed bifter at the time, but they with sense were filled; the punishment should fit the crime, and peddlers should be killed.

JEFFRIES STUNT WITH WIFE COST JAMES 25 BONES

"All I want is an opportunity to ap ply for a divorce," said Mrs. Alma Mc-Daniels in police court Wednesday morning as she appeared to testify against her husband, James McDaniels, whom she charged with blacking one of her eyes.

McDaniels was arrested Tuesday aft-ernoon by Patrolman Callan on a warrant charging him with assault and battery. Mrs. McDaniels filed the affidavit before Mayor Ankele following an attack upon her by her husband in the Union street home

The woman alleged that McDaniels abused her incessantly and the climax came Tuesday when he hit her a staggering blow on the optic which tended the funeral of Miss Louise caused that portion of her face to take Pierson, in Pataskala, last Monday on a beautifully tinted hue of blue, black and green. ## PRIMARY PLANS TO BE REJECTED

Republican National Committee to Ignore Bourne.

WILL FOLLOW TAFT'S WISHES

Members of Committee Do Not Like Insurgency and Progressiveness Like That Practiced by Oregon Senator. Effect of Failure of Reciprocity Is Hard to Guess.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Oct. 11 .- [Special.]-It is already apparent that the Republican national committee will not adopt the suggestion of the progressives and recommend presidential preference primaries when they issue the call for the next national convention. It is doubtful whether Senator Bourne really expected that result, although he is optimistic when he gets started in politics.

"There is no reason why that course should not be pursued," is his argument, "and the committee ought to do it, because it is right." But the members of the committee will not agree with him. Moreover, the committee does not like insurgency and progres siveness as practiced by Bourne and others. What is more to the point, the committee is a Taft committee and will do what it knows will please the president. He will not tell his wishes, but they will be known.

Can't Size It! Up.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota, one of the most bitter opponents of Canadian reciprocity, is unable to size up the effect on the administration of the failure of Canada to accept the reciprocity bill. He knows that the people of his state are bitter over the measure, and he was sure that had it been successful it would have of by Mayor Ankele in police court been disastrous to the administration, but he cannot say whether the people will continue the opposition which started with the extra session. He is not in a very hopeful mood, for his n the ardnous task of fixing the tax state is now controlled by the insurlevy for the county. The commission gents, and they have not shown any a composed of the County Auditor, the desire to get in line for Taft if he Congressional Peace Delegates. Congressman Bartholdt of Missouri and Congressman Slayden of Texas are in Italy on a peace mission. They are delegates to a nation wide peace conference at Rome. Let us hope that they will get results. Why should they not turn loose at once and stop the Turkish-Italian war?

The trouble with our peace conventions is that they work on paper. Preaching at the M. E. church whenever a nation gets ready for war text Sunday morning at 11 o'clock by the new pastor, Rev. Bowden. Let here be a good turn out.

Whenever a nation gets ready for war it fights. Everybody believes that Italy had no cause for war with the weak Turkish nation, and it is well Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dixon and known that diplomatic negotiations would have prevented our war with feroy Dixon of Bloomington, Ill., Spain. But weak nations were in-were guests at the John Liming volved, and the big countries sprang tome last Wednesday evening. The upon them because of the warlike spir-

Starts Society Moving.

While the supreme court and the diplomatic corps continue to war as to which has precedence at formal functions, it is certain that the court starts society going in the national capital. The court assembles the second Monday in October, and the members of the tribunal are in Washington before that date: consequently there begin the first movements in the social world in which the wives of the members of the court take a prominent part. While society in official life never gets real busy until late in the season, yet the returning officials and their wives begin a quiet round of small affairs early in the fall.

"Honored In the Breach." There was a time when the only duty of the supreme court on the first day of the October term was to go to and Mrs. J. O. Overturf, Mr. and the White House and greet the presidents. N. H. Overturf of Johnstown, dent. For many years the presidents Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe of Centerburg, made it a point to be in Washington and Mr. and Mrs. Rolla DeCrow. The on that date in order to receive the made it a point to be in Washington court. That rarely happens since the "wanderlust" has taken possession of the presidents. Roosevelt was generally away hunting, and Taft is somewhere on the wing these October days, so the court does not pay its White House visit any more.

Place For Fairbanks. It would be very fitting for President Taft to make former Vice President Fairbanks the chairman of the Canadian boundary commission in place of the late Senator Carter. Fairbanks was on one Canadian commission and did a great deal to establish friendly relations between the countries. He and Sir Wilfrid Laurier are very warm friends. It is doubtful if he would accept the place, but he would be a mighty good man for it. The Love Feast Route.

With a big feed the West Virginia Republicans are going to make an effort to get together. They have tried love feasts before and will try them again. It makes the average West Virginia Republican very sore to realize that only a few years ago his party had all the offices in the state, and as a result of one election the Democrafs have two senators, four congressmen and the legislature. So they are going to meet and eat and try to retrieve their lost political prestige.

BUGLE CALL AROUSED THE GRANVILLIANS

Citizens Left Their Warm Beds at An Early Hour to Investigate Unusual Occurrence,

Granville, Oct. 11.—Long before daylight Wednesday morning the peo-ple of Granville who were awake, were startled by the clear sharp tones of a bugle that rang out at intervals for some time. Many were of the opinion that the members of Company G who live in Granville, were being rounded up for service, and much, speculation was indulged in, and when special car arrived in the village their wonderment was increased. Many hurriedly arose from their beds and started out to investigate. They soon found that the members of the Granville Cornet Band were being rounded up for the trip to Dayton with Newark Last season and for a number of years Commandery No 34, Knights Templar, to attend the Grand Commandery meeting in Dayton on Wednesday, and take part in the big parade. In admandery in its pilgrimage to Dayton.

The year 1911 will go down on the weather records as the one of reversed seasons, especially in this section. The spring was abnormally dry, giving the corn a bad start and making the hay crop very poor. The fall has been unusually wet, giving the corn a bad finish and making the pastures very fine.

Miss Gertrude Good will entertain the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor this Wednesday evening on Mt Parnassus. The pastimes will be commemorative of Hallowe'en.

The Denison Scientific Association is starting off this semester with every prospect of having one of the most successful courses in the history of the village. The regular meeting held on Tuesday evening was attended by a large number of the members and much interest was manifested in the proceedings. Dr. McKibben spoke of several new ethecological books in the library, which may be found in the geology department; Prof. C. P. Wood talked of the peculiarities of the music of the gypsies, and interpreted the music as no one else has done. The subject of Dr. G. E. Coghill's paper was 'A Notable Experiment in Commun-1sm," and was a subject that was listened to with marked attention from the beginnig to the close.

The honor scholarship of the Scientific Association had two candidates at the recent examination, Raymond Weaver and Laurence Moore. Upon examination the examiners found the papers of these two young men nearly equal that they could do no more than share the scholarship between them until a time when a vacancv will make other arrangements pos-

510 ELECTRIC LAMPS TO BURN ON COURT HOUSE

The "bubble" drinking fountains re now being installed on the west side of the court house park. New cement walks will be laid from the curb and from the walks around the ourt house to these fountains. The tountains were purchased by the Board of Trade and are being set by Director of Service Christian.

The Board of Trade has just en tered into a contract with the Newark Electrical Company for the in-stallation of 510 incandescent lamps on the dome of the court house. The installation is to consist of vertical and horizontal outlines, the wires being carried in steel conduits with fittings for lamps, and made water tight for protection against the weather. The work is to be installed according to the rules of the National Board of Underwriters, and switches tor controlling the lights will be placed at a convenient point for operation.

These lights are to burn from dusk until midnight every night. A number of men and firms solicited by the Board of Trade have agreed to pay for the lighting for a period of at least one year. The lighted dome will be seen from trains passing through the city and may be seen many miles from town.

The installation of the lighting is to be paid for out of the court house park improvement fund. This fund is not quite large enough to cover the cost of the work in progress and there is the work of improving walks, trees, etc. yet to be done. It is hoped that the city will care for the trees and that the county commissioners will place new lighting standards at each of the court house approaches. More money is needed for the work undertaken by the Board of Trade, and all who are interested are invited to contribute to the fund. Subscriptions in any amount will be gladly accepted. The Good Little " Rain Fairies

HE rain was pattering gently upon the porch roof making nice, sleepy music for the children's bedtime, and Evelyn fifted her head from the pillow to stare out into the gray, misty night.

"I wonder if there are any rain fairies, daddy?" she murmured. "To be sure there are," smiled daddy.

"Then tell us about them," begged Jack. "This," as the wind came sighing through the cedar trees, "Is just the sort of night for a fairy story." 'Very well," said daddy, "I'll do my best.

"The rain fairies live, some of them do anyway, in lovely castles high up in the sky. These castles are of wonderful shapes, with tall turrets of shining silver and sometimes with deep-dungeons of the deepest black. Their dwellings are unlike earth houses, for the castles move here and there from

Didn't Know His Own House

By EDITH V. ROSS

There lived years ago at The Hague pretty Dutch girl named Katrina Vedder. Katrina notwithstanding that the beauty of her form was obstructed by a dozen petticoats and her shapely feet were covered with wooden sabots was really a comely girl-so comely that when Ary Van Schoonhoven pass- Will board children or Heisey board ed her house one day paddling on the canal he quite fell in love with her.

Not long after this Ary met the girl at a dance where the sound of the wooden shoes on the floor was like the hammering in a carpenter's shop. The couple danced together. Ary whirled Katrina around like a top.

Whether so much whirling turned the young people's brains or whatever the cause, they fell violently in love. But in Holland young girls cannot marry without a dowry, and Katrina had no dowry. Old Van Schoonhoven, who sold cheeses, was well off and could have set the couple up very readily, but he would not. He told his son that if he chose to marry a dotless girl he might do so, but they would get nothing from him.

The old man, though he was an alderman and much respected on account of his position, was given to tipling. There was a place near his house where he used to drink schnapps till late at night, then go home and to bed. He lived in a row of dwellings, all precisely alike and each built with its gable end on the street.

prank on his father. He had no object in doing so except fun, but before he he got through there was a more important result than mere fun.

the taproom was used to counting the houses till he came to the sixth, which was his own. Since they were all alike he had no other way of determining his own domicile. The door was one of those double ones cut in the middle. One night when the cheese merchant went home full of schnapps he counted the houses, as usual, and when he reached the sixth endeavored to put his key in the lock and open the door. But he was a long time finding the keyhole, and when he did the key didn't fit it. Then be noticed that instead of his own double door the one he was trying to open was a single one. Then, morning and the general delivery watching for his father when the old man came, he had lectured him in a 10 o'clock. The other departments feigned voice. Those living next door, being perfectly sober, had recognized Ary's voice and entered heartily into , the joke.

"I know who you are," said a wo man's voice next door. "You are Van Schoonhoven, with but one son, who wished to marry Katrina Vedder, a set an example to others instead of getting drunk and breaking the peace of the town at midnight."

Here an idea entered Ary's head. "Yes; that is right. You are keeping two lovers apart, and tomorrow you will be paid for your meanness. This matter will be the talk of the town.

But I tell you what I will do. I will give you a bed here till morning, and if you will then promise to mend your ways we will keep your secret." This brought the old man around His son threw him a key, with which he opened the door, and, mounting the stairs, found himself in his own room. The next morning Ary went down High School Entertainment Course early and changed the door. Last Night's Play.

As two straggling troupers of a circus, Montgomery & Stone in "The Old Town" captivated 'All kinds of Bulbs for a capacity audience at the Auditorlanting now. Tulips, Nar- inm theatre. Either of these talentissus, Hyacinths, Crocus, show to complete success, but when they join torces the attack is irresistible and every one of Tuesday night's audience fell victim to their night's audience fell victim to their comedy and the house re-echoed with

This marked the first appearance of the comedians in Newark, although they having been playing in Wizard of Oz," the "Red Mill," and now "The Old Town." In "The Old Town." Montgomery and Stone have a play well worth their hard work. The words are by George Ade, the great humorist, the music by Gustave Luders, and the whole abounds in brilliant dialogue and catchy music. Charles Dillingham, the producer, has spared no effort to make the play un-usual from a productive standpoint, and the costuming and staging are exceedingly attractive. David Montgomery is still the hard working, buoyant comedian as when he played the Tinman in "The Wizard of Oz." His biggest hit in "The Old Town," however, is the Japanese song, in which he is supported by a chorus of pleasing voices, possessing much volume, and it is beautifully costumed. From an artistic standpoint this is probably the prettiest number in the entire score. Fred A. Stone is one of the most ardent and earnest of workers. There is not a time when to see him is not to laugh, and his wonderful feat of tight rope walking and lariat throwing would each one be sufficient to win him a place as an artist on any vaudeville stage. From the time they come on the stage, the lonely circus parade of two, with a bass drum and a trombone, the play is one continuous laugh. Supporting the two stars is a company of exceptionally capable and clever people. Deserving to share honors with the stars is Miss Flossie Hope, one of the cleverest little actresses seen here in some time. Miss Hope delineated the character of Gustina, a Swedish maid. and her dancing and singing marked her one of the foremost of musical comedy actresses. Other members of the cast deserving mention for good work are Charles Dox as Hon. Duke Bilwether, Helen Falconer and Edna Bates as his two nieces, Caroline and Diana, and James C. Reaney as Jim Flanders, a politician. The original dence by the English pony ballet was one of the best bits of chorus dancing ever seen here. Summing it up, brilliant music,beautiful dancing and rare comedy car-ried by two artists, aided by a company of clever people, made one of the real treats of the season.

Clean pots and pans with GOLD DUST

Germs of decay accumulate on oft-used pots and pans, and ordinary soap and water only clean off the surface.

Gold Dust does the work—and does it right? It digs deep after germs, cleans like a new whistle. and leaves your pots and pans as new, as bright as the day they were new—and sanitarily safe.

Gold Dust does this work in just half the time required by soap or any other cleanser. Does it better, too.

Gold Dust cleans everything like magic.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

ATHLETICS WIN ONE FROM STARS

Washington, Oct. 11 .- The Philadelphia pitchers worked in something like their true form yesterday and he All-Stars went down to defeat, 3 to 2, the winning run coming in the ninth inning with no one out, on Collins' single and Baker's double to the right field fence. Coombs pitched the first four innings and his bases on balls to Milan and Gessler, coup-led with Chase's single and Davis' erroi, gave the All-Stars their two runs. Plank pitched three innings, allowing but one hit and Bender linished up the game, only one hit being registered off his delivery. The way the champions bit Walter Johnson surprised the onlookers as he had all his speed and control. Eddie Collins but three singles, while Har-Davis slammed a fast shoot over he light field fence for a home run. Sensational fielding plays were made by Chase and Elberfeld.
